

Robots invade restaurant operations

99306

2. The Interval

San Francisco bar The Interval employs not one, but two robots. Customers can watch Otto, a chalkboard robot, draw and write menu specials on the bar's front-of-house chalkboard, all while sipping drinks made by the nameless robot behind the bar that is able to dispense perfectly measured shots of gin.

